

John has spent the last weekend working on getting the Falcon Dash into the Cobra shell. It will take some work to intergrate the Air Conditioning into the new dash area, but he's confident it will be completed in the next week.